On September 3, 1941, one hundred and eighty-nine wondering freshmen entered Jeffersonville High School in their eager quest for higher education and the higher designs of living. For nine months we lived and worked, always thinking of the time when we would reach our sopho-moredom.

To the inspiring strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" we proudly walked, diplomas in hand, into the Future to take up our Designs for Living. And with this gesture we wrote FINIS in the last chapter of our too short sojourn in one of the grandest high schools in Indiana—in the Jeffersonville High School!

This is Jeff!

TRI Y

The Tri-Y is an organization of the younger members of the Y. W. C. A. Each member endeavors, to the best of her ability, to fulfill the club's ideal —“to find and give the best”.

This year the Tri-Y, under the direction of Miss Court, club sponsor, presented a Christmas assembly program in song and story. To complete the year's activities the club gave a “Mother-Daughter Banquet”. The members plan for this to become an annual affair.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The personnel of this high school organization was made up of students appointed from the several homeroom groups. Each homeroom elected one representative and an alternate whose duty it was to attend all meetings of this council.

The main objective of the Student Council was that of dealing with problems pertinent to school life in Jeffersonville High School. This club has functioned without a faculty sponsor through the cooperation of its members.

G. A. A.

The purpose of the Girls Athletic Association is to encourage all girls to participate in athletic activities and to develop good sportsmanship.

The '44-'45 officers were: Jane Gould, Pres.; Estelle Bere, Vice-Pres.; Lois Rager and Cissy Kratz, Sec.; Murrell Obermiller, Treas.; Joan Hunckler, Recorder; and Lois Rager and Doris Haywood, Hyphen Sports Writers.

Besides the usual athletic activities, the club this year sponsored the Sweater Dance and the Senior vs. Faculty basketball games. It also awarded the honor medals to the Junior Class team members who were the winners of the girls intramural basketball tournament, and to Jeanette Groves, the winner of the girls' singles ping pong tournament.

HYPHEN STAFF

The Hyphen, our school paper, performed an invaluable service this year in serving as a link between the junior and senior high schools. Both schools had a great part in publishing the paper.

The journalism classes, under the co-sponsorship of Miss Margaret Sweeney and Miss Mabel Makowsky, gleaned data from countless sources in order to give to the students an interesting school newspaper. This data consisted primarily of news, both local and national, school activities, feature stories, pictures, and all that which makes for a successful school paper. The Hyphen underwent a change in the number of the pages and replaced the "gossip" column with a "Who's Who" and "Familiar Scenes Around Jeff High".

CIVICS CLUB

The Civics Club consisted of the five classes taught by Mrs. Girth. Each class selected its own officers.

The club re-dedicated the Service Flag and raised funds to purchase a case for this flag. It sponsored the Stilted Dance and a banquet. Stacy Stevens and Dave Varble were elected by the members of this group to serve as pages in the State House at Indianapolis.

Seated: Ruth Sommerville, Vera Records, Emogene Hill.

Standing: Dorothy Lentz, Bob Marshall, Ruth Lemmon, Bruce Graham.

CONCESSION STAND

Under the capable direction of Mr. McCarty this group functioned at all home basketball games. The purpose of maintaining the concessions stand was that of raising funds to finance the 1945 Topic.

We thank Mr. McCarty and the following seniors for their loyal support: Ruth Lemmon, Bob Marshall, Dorothy Lentz, Bruce Graham, Vera Records, Emogene Hill, Ruth Sommerville.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

(No picture available)

The Parent-Teachers Association of the Jeffersonville High School has come to be looked upon as an integral part of the student life in the Jeffersonville High School. For this reason the seniors especially wish to take this means of expressing their deep appreciation to this wonderful organization for its splendid cooperation and careful and diligent supervision.

In the main this organization has directed its endeavors along two channels: first, the procurement of those aids which make for a better and happier school life and second, a willingness, cheerful and gracious at all times, to supervise student "mixers", school dances which are usually held after each home athletic contest.

Much credit for an excellent job well done must go to an excellent staff of officers.

JEFFERSONVILLE HIGH SCHOOL BAND

The Jeffersonville High School Band played a very important part both in school and civic activities. This grand organization was always available for any kind of celebration, memorial, grand opening, or sports event. Our band had all the prerequisites for an "A" organization—lively music, bright uniforms, and a spectacular appearance. Snappiness in the reality!

Regular rehearsals were held three times weekly until the opening of the basketball season. At every home game the band occupied its usual place in the balcony of the Field House where it entertained the spectators before the game and at the half-time period.

ORCHESTRA

The string orchestra is the latest innovation of the Jeffersonville High School Music Department. Despite its size and number of practices the orchestra made a great contribution to high school life.

Past performances at grade commencements, at many general programs, and at high school plays forecast a bright future for this musical group.

JEFFERSONVILLE HIGH SCHOOL BAND

At the Corydon and Male basketball games the band gave a marching and formation exhibition in a very skillful and cleverly executed fashion.

Hats off to the members of the band for participation in all appearances is usually 100 percent. Each student feels it is an obligation to do his part and to respect the prestige of the J. H. S. Band.

But it is not all work in the band; the band enjoys the social aspect as well. The students will always remember the parties in the old familiar band room and the "eats" so lavishly furnished by the parents. Then, too, there is that annual picnic every spring!

J. H. S. SWING BAND

A favorite with the Jeff student body is the Swing Band aggregation. Scarcely did a Friday night pass during the regular school year that this musical organization did not furnish the music for some school dance sponsored by the various activities.

Pretty and talented young ladies added charm and melody with their singing the latest popular songs of the "Hit Parade".

Each member of the Swing Band also anticipated the party given by the Band-Parents.

PIGSKIN PARADE

BROWDER NOLE

Most Valuable Player

This year's team was sparked by the sensational play of Browder Nole, diminutive and aggressive center, who played every minute of every game. For his outstanding play and team spirit he was given honorable mention on the All-Cities team and was awarded the most valuable player trophy for his contributions to this year's squad.

Team spirit, development of boys, and good sportsmanship were the dominating characteristics of the 1944 gridiron squad. Starting his practices in late August Coach Edwin Lyskowinski faced disadvantages; namely, a lack of material and inadequate experience.

Coach Lyskowinski devoted his time uncovering and developing speedy backs, while Assistant Coach Akers devoted his efforts to the development of the line. After three weeks of intensive practice Lysko pronounced his RED DEVILS ready for active competition.

PIGSKIN PARADE

EARL HERDT

Football Captain

Earl "Burr" Herdt, this year's captain, though small in stature was a giant on offense. He threw a barrage of aerial heaves that were good for sizeable gains. "Burr" also did a good job backing up the line on defense.

Jeff opened its gridiron season against Washington. After a tough battle the Demons found themselves on the short end of a 13 to 0 score. In their next appearance on the gridiron the Demons made a remarkable come-back in the second half to extend Ormsby Village, but fell short of winning. The score was 18-13. However, in the next contest the Demons romped over the Bicknell Miners 32-0; the next week they absorbed a 56 to 6 licking from K. M. I. The Demons closed their season with a doubtful 6 to 0 to Flaget of Louisville.

Again the line play of Browder Nole was outstanding. "Burr" Herdt, this year's captain, was a constant threat with his accurate passes, while the plunging of quarter back Von Hisey accounted for many of the Demon's touchdowns. Al Isler, a track man, showed his true ability with his broken field running. Meyer and Mueller looked good for the Demons on offense while the line play of Andres and Sparks made the line a tough combination.

H A R D W O O D

This year's hardwood quintet proved to be one of the best that Coach Lysko has produced. With the fast break as their main weapon of attack, the Demons marched through a tough schedule to rack up sixteen wins against two losses. The initial setback was to Jasper's highly rated Wildcats; the second setback was to the Central Bears of Evansville, the only other club besides our own Red Devils to defeat Bosse of Evansville.

Jeff's important and impressive wins included victories over Bosse, Indiana State Champions for the past two years, Male of Louisville, Kentucky State Champions, New Albany, Bedford, Mitchell, and Scottsburg.

H I G H L I G H T S

VON HISEY

In mid-season the Demons lost the services of their stellar guard, Von Hisey, to the U. S. Navy. It would appear that the Demons did not miss his services since they won nine consecutive games with no losses. However, it was in the tournament play that the Demons missed his experience and rebounding. For it was Hisey who was the second leading scorer on our club. Under his generalship in the tournament the Devils' chances of going somewhere would have been greatly enhanced.

William Gedling

Lloyd Scott

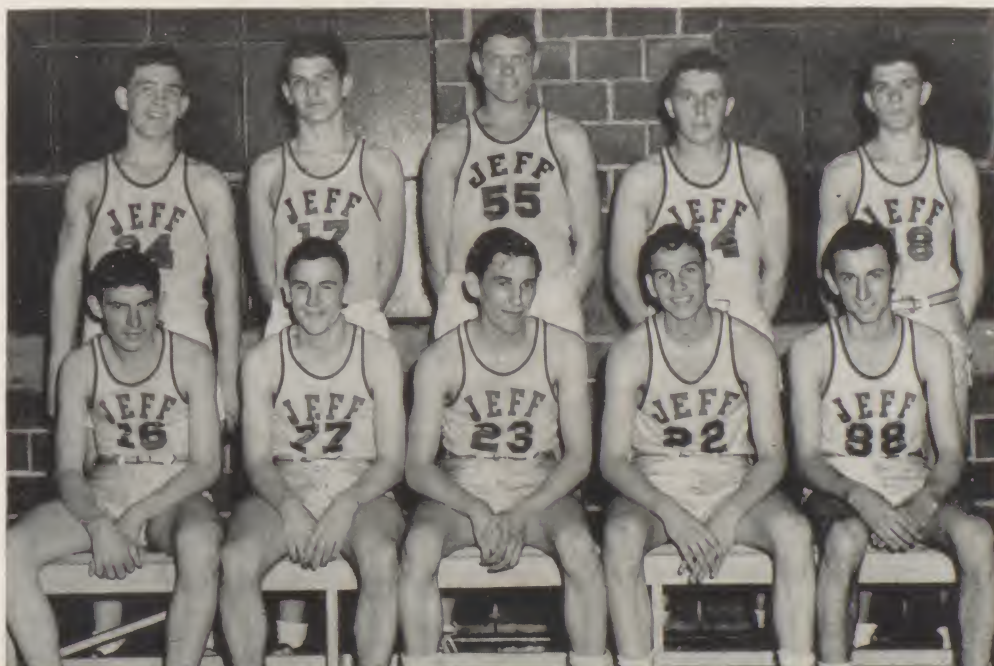

Frank Clegg

In tournament play the Red Devils swept through a rigorous Sectional schedule downing Laconia 61-8; Corydon 58-32; Silver Creek 25-22, and New Albany 31-29. In the latter tilt Charlie Meyer pitched in twenty-three of the Demons' thirty-one points to set a new record for the Jeffersonville-New Albany rivalry.

However, in the Bedford Regional the Red Devils hit a snag; the Bedford Jinx prevailed. After defeating a scrapping Paoli quintet 48-40, the Jeff Demons bowed to the Stonecutters by a 45-38 count. This game rang down the final curtain on this year's hardwood highlights.

LITTLE DEVILS

Despite a not too impressive record of ten wins and eight losses the "Little Devils" displayed aggressiveness and hustle. Many fans may not realize that the sole purpose of the second team is to develop ballplayers and not to produce a winning five. As in preceding years Coach Akers used several combinations, thus giving each boy as much experience as possible. The results are now evident in the fact that Earl Smith and Milton Jenny were elevated to the varsity before the close of the season.

The "Little Devils" were: David Hedge, Robert Mayer, Joe Hyman, Richard Scott, Charles MacGregor, and Earl Frazier, all freshmen and Charles Lynch, James Flynn, Richard Braitling, Glenn Bottorff, and Jack Schnatter, all sophomores. Undoubtedly this experience, gained under the tutoring of Coach "Bob" Akers, will prove invaluable to those boys who are fortunate enough to advance to the varsity next year.

Kneeling: Glen Bottorff, Robert Lentz, Reilly Northam, Alvin Torrence, Ted Throckmorton, Joe Hyman, Gary Kissinger, James Foster.

Standing: Dexter Green, Phil Miller, Stacy Stevens, Albert Warner, James Flynn, Robert Kreutzer, Robert Lewis, Kenneth Koehler.

DIAMOND DUST

When it was time for the "hickory to meet the horsehide", Coach Edwin Lyskowinski and his assistant, Robert Akers, found fifty prospective ball-players reporting for practice. Nearly every member of this year's club was experienced, as all the regulars returned from last year's squad. With some hustle plus this experience the team was able to hold its own with the neighboring nines of Male, Manual, St. Xavier, Flaget, K. M. I., and New Albany.

This year's infield proved to be one of the best inner walls for several years. The quartet of Meyer, Scott, Gedling, and Hyman was smooth as well as steady.

The outfield of Osborn, Bottorff, and Flynn was fast and added considerable power to the club's lineup.

Handling the pitching slants were Clegg and Stevens, a couple of big backstops whose arms proved valuable later in the season.

The pitching staff of Koehler and Warner was fast, while Lewis served up more slow stuff to the batters. This department lacked only experience and made up for this in its willingness to learn.

Kneeling: Al Isler, Albert Murley, James Applegate, Don Dickerson.
 Standing: Charles Baldwin, Eugene Linney, Milton Jenny, Robert Dellinger.

THE THINLIES

In hopes of inventing a new fervor for track interest, Coach Kenneth Davis had his cindermen reporting early in April. When the weather proved suitable for outdoor practice, the squad moved out to Pennsy Field where several potential point getters were uncovered. Albert Murley, a miler, Jack Schnatter, a dash man, and Joe Dye, a high jumper, showed exceptional form. The more experienced men, upon whose shoulders will rest a huge responsibility, are Charles Baldwin, a 440 man, Al Isler, a hurdler and 22 man, Don Dickerson, a middle distance runner, Robert Dellinger, a miler, Milton Jenny, a shotputter, James Applegate, a dash man, and Eugene Trautwein, a distance runner. These men should also lend valuable support to this year's squad.

The first competition was seen in a three-way meet at the University of Louisville track on April 18. The final results showed Male High of Louisville, winning, Jeff High, placing, and Fort Knox High, showing. Meets have been scheduled with Manual, St. Xavier, Corydon, Silver Creek, and New Albany. Of these teams Manual and New Albany will probably offer the keenest opposition, while it is very likely that the Jeff thinlies may romp over such opponents as Corydon and Silver Creek.

COACHES

Our coaching staff, Head Coach Edwin Lyskowinski and the very competent assistants, Robert Akers and Kenneth Davis, enjoyed a prosperous season of sport successes.

At the start of the football season to the last minute of play, Coach Lysko had his charges driving hard and hitting low. The squad was inexperienced, but Lysko got the "mostest" out of the boys.

Wily Lysko's respected hoop outfit was recognized as being the only aggregation to defeat both the Indiana and Kentucky State Champions. The rivalry was also extended to five straight Sectional titles, and the season's record of sixteen wins and two losses is nothing short of excellent. Coach Akers also was busy developing future varsity players, while Coach Davis' Junior Hi squad went undefeated in season play.

Coaches Lyskowinski and Akers kept their diamond stars hustling until the last putout this Spring, while Coach Davis managed an improved track team with notable success.

PROPHECY

Quietly we enter a dimly lighted room. Yes, quietly, because we do not wish to distract the haggard form seated at a desk. This is William "Proxy" Turner. He doesn't hear us enter because he is concentrating so hard on the object before him.

On the workbench we see a strange apparatus called a "Time Machine". The inventor, Mr. Turner, has worked on it secretly for weeks, and now it is ready for its first great test.

Turning a knob labeled 1955, Bill sits back, relaxed, with his eyes on the screen directly above the machine. Slowly it begins to hum and buzz, and we find ourselves in 1955.

The scene is a hospital—a large, stately building, and across the front we see the words "Stevens Institute for Feeble Minded Morons". At the door ready to greet each newcomer is Dr. Stacy Stevens in a white uniform. (The lectures Mrs. Girth gave in Sociology on the need for such institutions gave Dr. Stevens his idea.) A door opens and Nurse Dunlap tells him that her assistants, Nurses Hendrick, Dunn, Sommerville, Records, Haywood, and Simpson, have a case in Room 219 that can't be quieted. As he prepares to leave, the screen flickers, the scene changes, and we find ourselves at Glenn Edward Seebert's Housing Project.

It seems that there is a metal heretofore unknown to man. The famous scientist, Donald Holmes, discovered it. Hundreds of people flocked to this mine to dig for wealth. Entering the Project we see Glenn trying to date Marguerite Sousley, now a singer with Bob Lentz and his orchestra. Continuing down the street we see a vine-covered cottage bearing the name of "Sagabiels". A little girl, Mary Lou, age four, is busy skipping the rope. As she pauses, she yells to a crowd of children in the next yard. We are told they are Wanda Meyer, Betty Lou Cunningham, Dorothy Rae Marshall, and Betty Cortner. Earl Herdt we see busily cleaning his house while waiting for someone (?), and Clifford Meyers and Ben Orgain, caught in the bonds of matrimony, offer suggestions.

Hearing a noise on the playground, we observe Charles Wright, Charles Mather and Charles Elliot, all disputing who was named Charles first, while an innumerable number of little Charleses beg for attention.

At the end of the Project we find a drug store operated by Raymond Haley. Whom should we see sitting in the booths but Mary Wilson, Doris Nachand, Robert Lewis, and the scientist, Donald Holmes. They are engaged, but as yet no one knows who is engaged to whom.

Glancing at the counters we see boxes of Warner Skin Lotion. The famous skin specialist is none other than Pauline whom we knew back in high school. James Parrish and Donald Payne rush to serve us, but Arthur Reed, now head soda jerk, "beats them to the punch".

At this moment a group of people enter. Immediately we recognize them as famous journalists. Peggy King, owner of the Louisville Bed Times Story, is busily talking to Dexter Green, a messenger boy. However, he has high hopes of being elevated to bookkeeper, the spot now filled by Al Isler. Al is quitting in favor of teaching dancing at Perry's Academy. The owner, Miss Doris, also gives singing lessons. She is assisted by Beverly Leach and Winifred Vest, while Margaret Mires, Norma Percy, Janet Rush, Carolyn McConnell and Leona Unrue serve refreshments after each tussle. Edith Knepper and Mary Knaebel are now famous as top record changers.

Just then a plane is heard overhead, and everyone rushes out just in time to see the pilot, Miss Estelle Bere, wave her handkerchief at the crowd. Only one passenger can be seen, Renn LaMaster, but we are told Bruce Graham, now a famous comedian, also is on board.

Someone inside turns on the radio and as we trip back in we hear an exciting basketball game. It is the final game in the World Champion series, and Lois Rager is coaching her All-American team on to victory. High scorers of the game are Jane Gould and Betty Gaither. The announcer is none other than Bill Katz, who gives an exciting play by play description. The game is slowed up because the referees, Donald Bottorff and Eugene Constantine, are unable to keep up with the fast plays.

As the game ends, Katz reminds us to remain tuned to this station for an important political address. Eagerly we listen as John Finn introduces William Bayne, who has turned Democrat. He gives a heated campaign talk for the presidency of the United States. He urges all good Democrats to help retain their party in power.

The screen again flickers and this time we are in Hollywood. Stumbling into a movie set we are confronted by a man who bears a remarkable resemblance to Victor Mature. The director tells us this is Eugene Linney. The cameraman, Bill Ogden, rushes to greet us, followed closely by Gretchen Callahan Carpenter, who in her spare time designs clothes for the studio. They are producing a baseball picture in which Kenney Koehler, now a world famous pitcher, plays the starring role. William Osborn and Henry Coleman are the supporting players along with Rita Vissing, Marilyn Davis, and Ruth Adrienne Hisey. The producer's secretary, Rose Lee Trebbing, offers to show us around the lot. We find Martha Osborn leading a class of those who want to perfect their figures. Her assistant, Shirley Fatout, carefully watches while Eleanor Haulter and Catherine Hunt show them how to perform difficult gymnastic feats.

In a newsreel being shown in the projection room, we see that Margaret Wright has captured the title of the world's most efficient secretary. Mary Irene Bottorff was given one dozen pairs of nylon stockings for being runner up. Thelma Parr was awarded the title of Miss Swimmer of 1955, while Betty Ruth Funk was named outstanding model of 1955. Delores McCammon won the Academy Award for her stirring performance in "My Gun, My Gun", supported by Bill Cole, better known as The Smile, and John Edward Mueller, the Profile. The combination of Schmitz and Stone are known the world over and have far surpassed Abbott and Costello. Bob Chinn is a second Bob Burns even to the pipe and that drawl. Catherine Hoppes was nominated most likely to succeed because of her laugh. Miss Margaret Hutt, the famous woman authority on travel, made the presentations.

The newsreel also gave us information on a journey into the wilds made by Thelma Hammond, Mary Ruddell, and George Bussman to try to reform the natives. They were last seen on an island called "Two Two or Three". As yet no news has been received of them. Numerous tries were made to figure out their position by Andrew Lieber, a second Einstein, but because of so many small islands, his figuring failed.

Scenes are showed of a new flood that is sweeping the Ohio Valley. Catherine Bottorff in the uniform of the Red Cross is helping needy people, while perched on top of the newly constructed flood wall, second highest in the world, is Clyde Goodwin whose brilliant mind conceived the idea. This shining piece of work saved the high school where we find John William Carl, principal, Charles Edward Castetter, superintendent, Alvah Landwher, Dean of Boys, and Norma Jean Stallard, dean of girls.

Among the public buildings saved were: the Super Market, now owned by Arnold and Phyllis Vaughn, under the joint management of William Fischer and Jack Sartell, the LeRose Theatre, now known as "Baldwin's Bedlam" with Otto Andres, head ticket seller, and "the something new has been added" featuring Calvin Ettel selling soda pop. The J. C. Penney store now is under the management of Miss Betty Sellmer with Emogene Hill bookkeeper. Yvonne Crawford is shown making the dresses and Doris Cole's calm ways soothe the irritated customers. Ethel Woehrle's Dairy is safe. She is assisted by Virginia Paulini and Mary Zink.

As we leave the projection room the exciting news reaches us that William Bayne has been elected President! But the startling fact is he has an all-girl Cabinet. James Applegate, famous Republican Congressman, is hotly claiming Bayne stole the idea from him. Barring further complications the cabinet will read as follows:

Secretary for fewer school days	Betty Felts
Secretary for cheaper permanents	Jo Ann Hughes
Secretary for better parking spots	Pat Saunders
Secretary for higher wages	Dottie Pennington
Secretary for a ten-hour work week	Murriel Obermiller
Secretary for better laughs	Norma Leppert
Secretary for better husbands	Doris Stienback
Secretary for helping truants	Jean Trinkle
Secretary for helping foreign officials feel at home	Lena Sands
Secretary for taller, darker men	Alice Coyne

(He chose Ruth Lemmon as his private secretary.)

At the conclusion of this stirring announcement, the world famous "Ingram Military Band" breaks into the strains of "Hail to the Chief". The band is led by Claire, whom we knew well back in Jeffersonville. Robert Moon is heard congratulating the new president, who accepts with pleasure this salute from the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. The screen flickers, clicks, and fades into darkness.

Bill Fisher looks around wonderingly and then, mumbling "It really works," falls into a deep faint. Pardon us while we follow suit—

CLASS WILL

We, the class of '45, stamped by Jeff High's Way of Life, are now eager to pass on to our underclassmen various materials we have gathered on our road to education.

- I, Wanda Newell Antz, leave my love for basketball boys to Jean Wilcox.
- I, William Thomas Bayne, leave my harem to be divided equally among the Junior boys.
- I, Estelle Marie Bere, leave the Tri-Y without a president.
- I, Catherine Leone Bottorff, leave my wonderful personality to Mrs. Girth as a case study for Sociology.
- I, Donald Ray Bottorff, leave my surplus energy to some other worn out student.
- I, Mary Irene Bottorff, leave my photographs in my billfold to any hungry sophomore.
- I, Marvin Burton, leave my ability to write much in little to any future author.
- I, George Herman Bussman, leave my knowledge to the school to be made into an encyclopedia known as "Hoimon's Soimon for Kids Dat's Loinin".
- I, Gretchen Pauline Callahan, leave Duane. Just try to get him, girls.
- I, John William Carl, leave my shyness to Dave Bere to do with as he sees fit.
- I, Charles Edward Castetter, leave my love of good pictures to next year's annual.
- I, Robert Rhea Chinn, leave my part as the clown at basketball games to Robert Tatlock.
- I, Doris Jean Cole, will my refined ways to any green Freshman.
- I, James Applegate, will my books to the scrap drive—for the first time they will be put to use.
- I, Otto Andres, leave my place as ticket collector to anyone who desires the position (sucker).
- I, Eugene Constantine, leave still in a daze as to how I got my credits.
- I, Yvonne Crawford, leave all the wolf calls I received to Alveda Stoffel.
- I, Marilyn Elizabeth Davis, with regrets leave the band.
- I, Glenna Howell Dunlap, leave to take up the uniform of a Cadet Nurse.
- I, Nora Jean Dunn, leave my second hour class and Glen Seebert giving Miss Sweeney's voice a rest.
- I, Charles Wilfred Elliott, will to some student the idea of having more time in the halls instead of in class.
- I, Calvin Emil Ettel, leave the desks with muddy footprints.
- I, Shirley Ann Fatout, leave the underclassmen without someone to read them love letters.
- I, Betty Jo Felts, will my art of gum chewing to Miss Hayes.
- I, John James Finn, will all spare gas stamps to Umbriago.
- I, William Russ Fischer, leave my quiet, sly ways to some energetic Freshman.
- I, Betty Ruth Funk, leave the girls my ability of leading yells.
- I, Betty Gaither, leave the art club to find another expert.
- I, Clyde Marion Goodwin, will my time spent in the metal shop to an up-and-coming carpenter.
- I, Jane Marie Gould, will the pleasant hours spent in Spanish class to someone who appreciates the finer things of life.
- I, Mary Alice Goynes, leave my admiration of the Hi-Y to Peggy Pool.
- I, Bruce Alden Graham, leave Jeff High still looking for more girls.
- I, Dexter Walter Green, leave Miss Sweeney without a messenger boy.
- I, Raymond Parker Haley, will my New Albany fans to Bill Doley.
- I, Thelma Louise Hammond, will my unruffled manner to some harried Junior.
- I, Eleanor Joy Haulter, leave my locker and the pictures in it.
- I, Doris LaVerne Haywood, leave my willingness to study to some person lacking it.
- I, Earl Edward Herdt, leave the fans wondering what kind of team we will have next year.
- I, Joyce Janette Hedrick, leave my memories of shorthand that I couldn't transcribe.
- I, Emogene Hill, leave my place as bookkeeper to some other Einstein.

- I, William Louis Hollowell, leave all the dead letters I've collected to the library.
- I, Donald Prather Holmes, leave taking many feminine "ahhas" with me.
- I, Catherine Marie Hoppes, leave the ghost of my laughs to haunt Miss Hayes in study hall.
- I, Mary Lou Howland, am taking no chances; Ralph goes with me.
- I, Jo Ann Christine Hughes, will my knowledge of "Fads and Fashions" to Mademoiselle.
- I, Katherine Marie Hunt, will my love of chewing gum to students in Miss Robertson's classes.
- I, Betty Lou Huntsinger, leave my methods for getting my man to anyone who needs help.
- I, Margaret Louise Hutt, leave my position in the dance band for someone else to enjoy.
- I, Claire Ingram, leave my musical talent to anyone willing to work for it.
- I, Albert Jacob Isler, will my place as Wolf Number I to any deserving male.
- I, William Patton Katz, leave on the run—I'm taking no chances on repeating this course.
- I, Peggy Joan King, leave my knowledge of newspaper writing for the Freshmen to divide among them.
- I, Mary Louise Knaebel, leave Jeff High my excellent manners.
- I, Edith Gertrude Knepper, will my quiet ways to Amy Jo Baird.
- I, Kenneth Frederick Koehler, leave my physique to Charles Atlas.
- I, Renn LaMaster, leave taking Estelle with me.
- I, Alvah Frank Landwher, leave Mary Jane, but not for anyone else.
- I, Beverly Elizabeth Leach, leave my ability to pass notes in study hall to anyone interested.
- I, Ruth Alice Lemmon, leave my French accent to Mr. Sullender.
- I, Dorothy Rae Lentz, leave my "I. Q." to any dumb bunny.
- I, Robert Allan Lentz, leave my sound foundation of Chemistry to next year's class.
- I, Norma Jean Leppert, leave my practical jokes to Nancy Voiers.
- I, Robert Millard Lewis, leave my hats to any bareheaded freshman.
- I, Andrew Lieber, leave Mr. Graham's room and equipment with regret to Charles Sparks.
- I, Virginia June Life, leave to the other girls the memory of my winning smile.
- I, Eugene Knott Linney, leave my resemblance of Victor Mature to all you panting boys who need girls.
- I, Robert R. Marshall, leave, taking my middle name with me.
- I, Charles Mather, leave my brains to any feeble minded Sophomores.
- I, Delores McCammon, leave to take up higher learning in college.
- I, Carolyn Edith McConnell, leave the kids still wondering if I'm the Coach's daughter.
- I, Charles Edward Meyer, leave the admiring looks and timid smiles I get as a hero to "Buddy" Clegg.
- I, Margaret Elizabeth Mires, leave my clean looking school books for someone else to try and master.
- I, Francis Moon, will my one excellent literary piece to Miss Able of Hawaii.
- I, John Edward Mueller, leave my name to future classes as "Pretty Curly Boy".
- I, Clifford Myers, will my pleasant smile to Phyllis Egan.
- I, Doris Mae Nachand, leave my pleasant ways to be remembered by all.
- I, Murrel Obermiller, leave the letters I write to the censors.
- I, William Eugene Ogden, leave my car to you kids who are tired of walking to the games.
- I, Benjamin Mesley Orgain, leave all articles hi-jacked from the newspaper office for use in future annuals.
- I, Martha Mae Osborn, leave still fascinating the underclassmen with my graceful ways.
- I, William David Osborn, leave still trying to get a date with Peggy.
- I, James William Parish, leave my quiet, peaceful countenance to Mike Marra.
- I, Thelma Louise Parr, will my swimming title to the swimmer who just yelled for help.
- I, Virginia M. Paulini, leave my job at Woolworth's to anyone who wishes to apply.

- I, Donald Albert Payne, leave with a sailor suit and a sign of relief.
- I, Norma Rose Percy, leave my teachers to the underclassmen to do with as they see fit.
- I, Dorothy Mae Pennington, leave taking my ring with me.
- I, Doris Ethel Perry, will my excellent imitations of Deanna Durbin to Lillian Cornelius.
- I, Arthur Terrell Reed, leave my rights of locker No. 3 to some other boy.
- I, Lois Ann Rager, leave the G.A.A. to find another like me.
- I, Vera Deane Records, take my secret heart throb locked up carefully inside of me.
- I, Mary Louise Ruddell, leave my knowledge of Latin to those who need it worse than I.
- I, Janet Ilene Rush, will my dancing ability to students in Mrs. Kerchusky's classes.
- I, David Sherman Russ, will my dazzling smile to some Freshman who will use it.
- I, Lena Mae Sands, leave my bright (?) answers in French class to Betty Wilbur.
- I, Rose Marie Ryan, will my dramatic talents to any Junior for use in next year's play.
- I, Jack Joseph Sartell, leave my neat appearance to all you plaid shirt partisans.
- I, Patsy Jane Saunders, leave my string of males to Sally Yocum.
- I, Doyle Keith Scarberry, will my dark curly locks to Janet McCarty.
- I, Ralph Sagabiel, will my bright questions to Miss Court.
- I, Thomas Franklin Schmitz, leave the glances cast at Yvonne fourth hour to any lover of good things in small packages.
- I, Glenn Edward Seebert, leave my good excuses to anyone who can't think them up fast enough.
- I, Betty Louise Sellmer, will my ability to smile always to others.
- I, Juanita Louise Simpson, will my job at the Q. M. D. to Mary Lee Hobson.
- I, Ruth Ann Sommerville, will my love for Alan Ladd to you girls who have his picture in your locker.
- I, Marguerite Florence Sousley, leave my ease for learning new dance steps to all you "jitterbugging jivies".
- I, Norma Jean Stallard, leave my shy smile to Lois Ann Scott.
- I, Doris Jean Steinbach, will my wedding ring to Joan Watson.
- I, Doris Schafer, leave my many unspoken thoughts to grapevine members.
- I, Stacy Edward Stevens, leave my book "How To Have a New Girl Every Forty Eight Hours" to Gordon Cunningham.
- I, Samuel Wayne Stone, leave Mrs. Girth without someone to contradict her.
- I, Rose Lee Trebbing, leave my unexpected laughs in fourth hour to Miss Court.
- I, Margaret Jean Trinkle, leave my ability to make conversation to June Fangson.
- I, David Payton Varble, leave my pretty hair to Al Cortner.
- I, Winifred Rose Vest, leave with no regrets.
- I, Arnold Preston Vaughn, leave nothing because Phyllis goes also.
- I, Rita Ann Vissing, leave to someone my job of collecting attendance sheets.
- I, Pauline Warner, will leave my position as majorette to some student qualified for it.
- I, Mary Frances Wilson, leave my date book for those Sophomore girls to work on.
- I, Ethel Worhrle, leave my ability to raise money for next year's Civics classes.
- I, Charles Edward Wright, leave Virginia Wilson to Jimmie Foster.
- I, Margaret Katherine Wright, will my love for study to Jimmie Koppes.
- I, Phyllis Jean Young, am taking no chances; Arnold goes with me.
- I, William Turner, am sorry I have nothing to leave—I destroyed all in Chemistry class.
- I, Mary Jewell Zink, will my art ability to a student in great need of it.
